

Nicole G. Bentze, D.O., FAAFP, FAMWA is a board-certified family physician and Dean of the Sarasota Regional Campus of the Florida State University College of Medicine. Dr. Bentze is a graduate of Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine (PCOM) and trained at the Harrisburg Family Medicine Residency Program, in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania. Her interest in medical education led her to complete a postgraduate primary-care faculty development fellowship at Michigan State University College of Human Medicine and the Society of Teachers of Family Medicine (STFM) Medical Student Educators Development Institute Fellowship.

Dr. Bentze served as Family Medicine Clerkship Director for third- and fourth-year FSU College of Medicine students for 10 years. From 2006 to 2016, she was in private practice with Intercoastal Medical Group in Lakewood Ranch, Florida. In 2016, she left her primary-care practice to dedicate her skills and experience to academic medicine full time. She taught and mentored residents in training at Manatee Memorial Hospital until the fall of 2018 when she became the Sarasota Regional Campus Dean. Dr. Bentze has completed the American Academy of Family Physicians (AAFP) Leading Physician Wellness Certificate Program and the Florida Medical Association (FMA) Physician Leadership Academy. She serves on the Board of Directors of the American Medical Women's Association (AMWA). She also serves as Chair of SCMS Delegation to the Florida Medical Association House of Delegates.

Dr. Bentze is married to family physician, Michael Bentze, D.O. They have two children.
